NEW GLOVES "On the Horizon"

Over the next several months, OMNI International will be introducing several new products that our growing distribution network and customer base have requested. Some products have been in the works for quite a while with our research and development team. We are very excited about presenting the new products to you as well.

NITRILE

Our first glove to be introduced will be the next generation of our popular #202 Lite Touch Glove. Omni has changed our source for the improved #202 to a manufacturer who has created a technology that will enhance all the current features our Lite Touch glove currently offers.

Those of you who have used our Lite Touch in the past, know how well this glove fits on the hand. Our next generation of this glove, offers even more conforming fit, comfort, and protection. Also, our new manufacturer has the necessary production capabilities to handle Omni International's continued growth in nitrile gloves.

Our very popular #212 Comfort Formulation Fit Nitrile Glove will also enjoy a product enhancement that allows it to have more conforming fit without losing any of the protective qualities this glove provides, especially for the EMS market. It has been certified for use with Chemotherapy drugs for more than a year. Your customer will likely not notice when this glove starts entering the market. However, you should get more compliments on it in the next few months as they will detect an even more "comfortable fit".

FOOD SERVICE

Omni International has grown its footprint in Food Service gloves over the years. In 2009, we have expanded our horizons with significant new customers and solid growth. All Omni Food Service gloves are NSF Certified and DOP/DEHP Free.

We will be releasing our next generation of Food Service gloves in the very near future. Look for a special announcement on this soon.

And, our Research and Development Department has some other "ideas" up their sleeve to release later this year.

Needless to say, we are elated with our future in multiple markets and look forward to sharing our new products with you.
