GLOVES, GLOVES AND MORE GLOVES!

It's been an exciting year at Omni International LLC. 2011 promises to be even better!

Over the past year, Omni International has introduced several new gloves under our OmniShield brand. These are all non-medical gloves and are sold in the food service, utility, retail/consumer and industrial markets. A few of these gloves have been mentioned in GLOVE LINES, however many others have not. Omni continues to work on developing new gloves. We also customize packaging for customers targeted to their respective markets.

Of course our big announcement of 2010, was the new OmniShield AMS Anti-Microbial gloves for the non-medical market. Omni has numerous new and existing customers buying these gloves which can be very good door openers for every distributor who takes the time to present them.

For the New Year, Omni already has several new gloves on the drawing board. We have test marketed these new gloves and are very encouraged by what the end user customer base has already reported in the non-medical, medical and dental markets. The new gloves will be announced at the appropriate time. There is lots of fun ahead so Happy New Year from OMNI!

SHIPPING ALERT

We will be performing our annual inventory counts just before New Years so Omni's Distribution Centers will be closed on December 29, 30 and 31. Please place any end of year orders on December 27th or before noon EST for shipping on December, 28. We will start shipping again on January 3. Thank you for your assistance.

Happy Holidays from all of us at Omni International
