Omni Holiday Schedule Office & Distribution Center Hours

We are sure you are in the midst of your Holiday Plans. Likewise, Your Friends at Omni International are readying for our end of the year. Please review our office and warehouse schedule below.

Omni International's offices will be closed on Monday December 24 and Tuesday December 25.

Our offices will reopen Wednesday December 26 for the remainder of the week.

We will once again close our offices at 3 PM on New Years Eve December 31 and all day New Years Day, January 1.

The Last day to place orders in 2012 will be Friday December 28.
Our last shipping day will be Monday December 31st.

In order to serve our growing customer base more efficiently, we will be adding a new inventory control program while our warehouse is closed for inventory from Wednesday January 2 through Monday January 7. Shipping will resume on Tuesday January 8th.

Please contact your Omni Representative or customer service if you have any questions.

See the Second Page for details.

Tis the Season!

All of us at Omni International have been busy prepping for the Holidays and New Year ahead.

We have placed a few things on our list to Santa. Items like some new products for our growing customer base, a larger staff and bigger distribution centers. Last year we asked Santa for more room and he brought us larger offices to handle our growing business. So we think he is pretty good at delivering.

We are most grateful for a fantastic group of people at Omni who all pitch in to help each other and have made some pretty darn hard work look easy to our customers.

And our customers...what a delight YOU are. From some of our very first customers who have been with us from our beginning back in April, 2000 to our newest customer we added on Friday...what a joy you are to us.

May you, your employees and your families have a very Blessed Holiday Season and Prosperous New Year ahead. From all of your Friends at Omni International....

Happy Holidays!
